10211 - Best Way to Teach Children and Call Them to Allah?

the question

How should I call my young brothers who are around the age of ten to be religiously committed, so that they will grow up as committed Muslims?
What methods should I use with them?

Detailed answer

Praise be to Allah.

We advise you to teach them the Quran and the saheeh (authentic) Sunnah, and the good manners of Islam, such as honouring one’s parents, upholding ties of kinship, honesty, trustworthiness, etc. Make sure that they regularly pray in jamaa’ah (congregation). Also teach them the Islamic etiquette of eating, drinking, speaking, etc. If they grow up with these good manners, they will be guided and will remain steadfast, by the permission of Allah, and they will grow up in a good way that will benefit them and their ummah (community), and you will have a great reward.
