9209 - Should he put the back legs of the chair in line with the row (when praying)?

the question

If a person prays sitting on a chair in the mosque, should he put the back legs or the front legs of the chair in line with the other worshippers' feet?

Detailed answer

Praise be to Allah.

We put this question to Shaykh Muhammad ibn Saalih ibn 'Uthaymeen, may Allaah preserve him, who answered as follows:

He should put the back legs of the chair in line with the other worshippers' feet.

Question:

But then when he stands, he will be in front of the others

Answer:

He isn't standing, (so he should put) his back in line with the feet of the other worshippers. And Allaah knows best.
