

106591 - He entered ihraam for Hajj but was prevented from entering Makkah

the question

One of my friends went for Hajj, and entered ihraam from the meeqaat of Madeenah and headed towards Makkah, but at the check point they told him to go back because he did not have a Hajj permit with him. So he went back and took off the Hajj garments. Is there any reward for his Hajj even though he did not enter Makkah, but he had entered ihraam?.

Detailed answer

Praise be to Allah.

Firstly: There is no sin on him for exiting his ihraam and going back without completing his Hajj, because he was forced to do that. And Allaah knows best about his situation and is Most Merciful to His slaves. He will be rewarded to the extent of whatever he did of the actions of Hajj with sincerity.

Secondly: If a person stipulates when entering ihraam that if anything prevents him (from completing Hajj) he will exit ihraam at the point at which he is prevented from continuing, then he does not have to do anything, but if he did not make any such stipulation, then he must offer a hadiy to be slaughtered where he was prevented from continuing, because Allaah says (interpretation of the meaning): “But if you are prevented (from completing them), sacrifice a Hady (animal, i.e. a sheep, a cow, or a camel) such as you can afford” [al-Baqarah 2:196]. Then he should shave his head or cut his hair, and thus he will have exited ihraam.

And Allaah is the Source of strength. May Allaah send blessings and peace upon our Prophet Muhammad and his family and companions. End quote.

Shaykh Ibn ‘Uthaymeen (may Allaah have mercy on him) was asked about a man who did Hajj without a permit, and he was prevented from entering Makkah. What does he have to do?

He replied: If he said when entering ihraam, “If I am prevented (from completing Hajj), then I will exit ihraam at the point at which I am prevented”, then he may exit ihraam and he does not have to do anything else. But if he did not stipulate that, then he has to slaughter a hadiy because Allaah says (interpretation of the meaning): “But if you are prevented (from completing them), sacrifice a Hady (animal, i.e. a sheep, a cow, or a camel) such as you can afford” [al-Baqarah 2:196], and he should exit ihraam (i.e., shave his head or cut his hair) at the point where he is prevented from continuing.
