1488 - The rules of Radaa' still apply if the child drinks the breast-milk from a bottle

the question

I understand that a child becomes "related" to a woman when he nurses from her. Does he also become related if he receives her breastmilk in a bottle ?

Detailed answer

Praise be to Allah.

Yes, the rules of Radaa' still apply, so long as the child drinks the equivalent of the well-known five breast feedings within the first two years of life.
