

154397 - Fabricated Hadeeth About Praying Two Rak'ahs Every Thursday During Sha'ban

the question

I received a message like this in my e-mail: Praying two rak'ahs every Thursday during Sha'ban: The Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him and his family) said: "Whoever prays two rak'ahs at that time, reciting in each rak'ah the Opening of the Book (al-Fatihah) and "Qul Huwa Allahu Ahad" (Surah al-Ikhlās) one hundred times, and when he says the salam, he sends blessings upon the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) one hundred times, Allah will fulfill all his needs in his religious and worldly affairs." I would like to find out how sound these words are and how to do these two rak'ahs, seeing that it mentions reciting Qul Huwa Allahu Ahad one hundred times; is this recitation to be completed during the two rak'ahs or afterwards?

Detailed answer

Praise be to Allah.

This hadith (narration) has no basis in the books of Sunnah (prophetic teachings). It would appear to be one of the fabricated hadiths that speak of the virtues of praying in Sha'ban. A number of hadiths were fabricated and falsely attributed to the Messenger (peace and blessings be upon him) about the virtues of Sha'ban and pray during this month, and the night of the fifteenth of the month. Al-'Allamah Ibn Hajar al-Haytami (may Allah have mercy on him) said: All the hadiths which speak of the virtues of this night - meaning the night of the first Friday of Rajab and the night of the fifteenth of Sha'ban - are false and have no basis, even though they appear in some books by major scholars such as al-Ghazali's Ihya 'Uloom ad-Deen and so on." (Al-Fatawa al-Fiqhiyyah al-Kubra, 1/184)

Similarly, hadiths were fabricated about the virtue of praying on certain days of the week.

Ash-Shawkani (may Allah have mercy on him) said: With regard to what is said about praying on Sunday, Monday or other days of the week, there is no dispute among the scholars of hadith that these are fabricated hadiths and that this prayer is not regarded as mustahabb (recommended) by any of the leading scholars."(Al-Fawaid al-Mawdoo'iyah, 1/74)

So it is not permissible to act upon this false and fabricated hadith. The saheeh (authentic) hadiths are sufficient for the one who wants to truly follow the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him).

And Allah knows best.
