

1882 - Praying in a hurry

the question

Assalamou Alaiykoum,

I wanted to know if you are in a hurry to go somewhere or something, but have to attend the sallah first, is it okay if you perform the sallah a little faster than usual?

Detailed answer

Praise be to Allah.

If the prayer is done properly, with all the obligatory actions included and with proper composure throughout, then there is nothing wrong with making your prayer shorter than usual.

And Allaah is the Source of help.