

72235 - Entering the toilet with a mobile phone on whose screen is the name of Allah

the question

I will like to know the ruling on entering the toilet with phone whose screen saver is Allahu Akbar written in arabic.

Detailed answer

Praise be to Allah.

The majority of scholars are of the view that it is makrooh to enter the toilet with anything in which Allah is mentioned, except in cases of necessity, such as coins on which the name of Allah is inscribed.

A number of scholars stated that if that is hidden, then there is nothing wrong with it in that case.

Ibn Qudamah (may Allah have mercy on him) said: If a person wants to enter the toilet and he has with him something in which Allah is mentioned, it is mustahabb to put it aside... if he keeps the thing in which Allah is mentioned with him and is careful not to let it fall, or he turns the stone of the ring towards the inside of his palm, there is nothing wrong with that. Ahmad said: If a ring has the name of Allah on it and he turns it towards the inside of his palm, and enters the toilet (that is permissible). 'Ikrimah said: He should turn it like this towards the inside of his palm, and fold his fist over it. This was also the view of Ishaq, and the same concession was granted by Ibn al-Musayyib, al-Hasan and Ibn Sireen. Ahmad said concerning a man who enters the toilet carrying coins: I hope that there is nothing wrong with it. End quote from al-Mughni, 1/109

Shaykh Ibn 'Uthaymeen (may Allah have mercy on him) was asked: what is the ruling on entering the washroom with papers on which there is the name of Allah?

He replied: It is permissible to enter the washroom with papers on which is the name of Allah, so long as they are in a pocket and are not out in the open, rather they are hidden and covered."(Fatawa al-Tahaarah, p. 109)

Based on this, there is nothing wrong with entering the toilet with a mobile phone on whose screen is the phrase "Allahu akbar", so long as you put it in your pocket, so that it is not out in the open.

And Allah knows best.
